here for the first time, was describ by one New York dramatic critic as "The Servant in the House turned inside out." He went further and called the play "The Devil in the House." In this world-famous play, the Devil introduces himself without too much mystery and without red fire into the studio of an artist, Karl Mahler's elbow and at the elbow of the rich banker's wife, Olga Hofmann, whom Mahler loves and who loves Mahler; fanning the flame of passion, urging, tempting, tantalizing, showing them the roseate side of wrong-doing, sneering at their scruples and gloating over their weaknesses and his own final triumph. The three acts pass in the studio of the artist and the ball-room of the banker's house. The artist and Olga hold to their ordinary walk of life be-fore the eyes of all their friends. Dr. Miller they meet naturally enough and without shock to conventionality or probability, but he is the Devil all the time, the tempter, the betrayer, the snarer of souls, and in the end, he has his way and the artist breaks off his plans for a lawful marriage to disappear with his lawless love. And the Devil opens the door for them.

assumed spirit of friendship, always the master. He torti artist and he resorts frequently to the forcefulness of jealousy and suspicion The play undoubtedly has the strength of a sermon, and yet it affords all the entertainment of the drama. Symbolic though it be, it is in reality a comedy and it is filled with fun, brilliant lines and daring situations.

The company coming to the Grand Monday is authorized by Henry W Savage, who by arrangement with the author, controls the only correct version of this epoch-making play. company is headed by Ramsey lace. His support is adequate, the scenery superb and the production, in its entirety, is an exact copy of that given at the Garden theater, New York, by the Henry W. Savage com-

KILLING A NEVADA MINER

ACCUSED MAN SEEKS LEGAL AID IN OGDEN.

W. L. Maginnis Returns From Elko County, Where He Is to Defend Joe McGowan.

W. L. Maginnis returned Friday from Tuscarora, Nevada, where he was retained in an important murder trial. He is to defend Joe McGowan. the man who has aroused a considerable amount of public sentiment or late throughout the stare as a result of his killing one of two men who disputed his possession of mining

Mr. Maginnis states that he found Elko, Nevada, enjoying a new lease on prosperity, the tracks of the West ern Pacific having been completed as Music hall, Lincoln Square theater far as that point, and the running of and the Broadway theater in New few days.

"The Tuscarora mining district," said Mr. Maginnis, "is also coming rapidly to the front again. The Mayhan Mining Co., which bonded most of the principal mining properties in that district, has raised, I understand, seme $750,000 for development work and the same will be spent immediately in getting the mines into a producing condition. There was paid out on the 31st, I believe, in the neigh borhood of $12,000 in development of twelve from New York to Kansas

Engineer Campbell Hurries to Scene and Has a Work Train Placed at His Command.

The bottom or side of one of the new ice ponds recently dug and flood ed at Carlin gave out Friday and the accumulated water filtered tarouga quicksand and disappeared as if by magic, leaving a thick crust of ice standing with nothing under to support or sustain it. As a result a new dam will probably be built at once and the pond flooded again in order to secure an ice supply for the new louses now nearing completion. The formation of the bottom land dong the Humboldt river is of a line andy nature, spotted with quicksands. and those familiar with the situation are apprehensive or further troubie with the big dam, which has just been completed to flood numerous until an officer could be sent for him. Hollis is described as being of medium height, polished, well-dressed and has the air of being a prosperous young business man. The that he had previously cashed a check at the Kenyon, which was good, paved the way for him to repeat the trick with a slip of paper that was not worth the amount of ink used in writing it. This also served to catch the employe in the trap and although strict orders have been given that no checks are to be cashed unless bearing the "O.
